Innovative Concepts

Mall/In-Line Restaurants

Recognized as the pioneer in quick-service mall food, Chick-fil-A still considers mall-based restaurants an integral part of its business. Nearly 300 major shopping mall restaurants are in operation today.

Stand-Alone Restaurants

In response to customer demand for convenience and accessibility, Chick-fil-A began opening stand-alone restaurants in high-traffic locations in 1986. The chain now operates more than 1,200 stand-alone locations.

Drive-Thru-Only Outlets

 Typically located near shopping malls, these outlets operate as satellite locations to a parent restaurant inside the mall and offer fast service and added convenience to the customer. Chick-fil-A currently operates 35 drive-thru-only restaurants across the country.
Dwarf House®

These full-service restaurants offer an extensive menu and provide customers a choice of table service, walk-up counter service or a drive-thru window. Thirteen Chick-fil-A Dwarf House restaurants currently operate in metro Atlanta.

Truett’s Grill®

Truett’s Grill is a full-service ‘50s diner-themed concept that features the full Chick-fil-A menu, as well as select items from Truett Cathy's original Dwarf House restaurant, which he and his brother opened in Hapeville, Georgia, in 1946. Featuring a streamline diner design with unique decor, Truett's Grill offers counter service, seated dine-in service and drive-thru service. The first Truett's Grill opened in 1996 in Morrow, Georgia, to commemorate Cathy's 50th Anniversary as a restaurateur. In May 2003, a second restaurant was opened in McDonough, Georgia, and a third Truett's Grill opened in Griffin, Georgia, in October 2006, in celebration of Cathy's 60 years in the restaurant industry.

Truett’s Luau®

Truett Cathy’s latest entrepreneurial vision – an exclusive one of a kind restaurant concept that blends fresh seafood items such as Mahi-mahi, Ahi tuna, cod, calamari and shrimp as well as other Hawaii-inspired dishes. Several Chick-fil-A favorites are available including the original Chick-fil-A® Sandwich, Chick-fil-A Chick-n-Minis®, Waffle Potato Fries® and hand-spun milkshakes. Located in Atlanta’s backyard, Fayetteville, Georgia, the restaurant opened in December 2013.

Licensed, Non-Traditional Outlets

Chick-fil-A has established this program to enable licensed partners to serve delicious Chick-fil-A food in settings such as college campuses, hospitals, airports, and business and industry locations. For these outlets, the Chick-fil-A brand is licensed to established institutional contract foodservice operators or self-operated food operations. There are more than 250 of these locations currently.

Satellite/"Lunch-Counter"

Satellite or "lunch-counter" concepts offer fast service to customers in office buildings and high-traffic locations during peak lunch hours. Seven satellite operations are currently open.
Sponsorships

Seventeen years after the chain signed on as the first-ever title sponsor of the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl®—and eight years after debut of the newly renamed Chick-fil-A Bowl—the classic college football match-up and longest-running rivalry between Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) and Southeastern Conference (SEC) teams continues to set records. The 2013 Chick-fil-A Bowl drew a 17th-consecutive sellout crowd to Atlanta’s Georgia Dome to witness the Dec. 31 clash between the ACC’s Duke University Blue Devils and the SEC’s Texas A&M University Aggies. The game continues to lead all bowls in charitable donations to a variety of charities, and has provided a record $7.4 million total payout to participating universities. Visit the official Chick-fil-A Bowl website for more information.
